9:15 a.m. General Session - Washington Expectations

The conditions under which airport ground transportation services are offered at our North American airport curbs is often dictated by national laws that affect how we utilize labor, the vehicles we may use and how we use them, who can be charged for operating fees, and under what conditions, and what security measures we must take. These issues, examples of current regulations, and what we may expect from Washington in the future, will be the focus of this opening panel session by federal officials and ground transportation operators.

Speakers.....Steve Sprague, Transportation Security Administration

.....Sam Waltzer, Environmental Protection Agency

.....Charles Hall, First Observer, HMS Company

10:30 a.m. Beverage Break - Exhibits Open

10:45 a.m. Charge every vehicle to use airport roadways and curb - The new landside revenue source

Airports have gradually added fees for commercial and courtesy vehicles which have utilized their curbs over the years as a fair way to pay for these facilities. Private vehicles have generally been exempt from these fees on the basic belief that there was no practical way to collect these fees, short of roadway entrances such as those utilized by airports such as DFW. However, with the advent of automatic collection of auto fees for toll roads, toll bridges, and now even airport parking, it becomes possible to also collect fees for private vehicles to use portions or all of the airport roadway and curb system. This session will deal with the technical, social, and political issues involved in doing this.

Presenters.....Forrest Swanson, TransCore

.....Gavin Duncan, Jacobs Consultancy

9:00 a.m. General Session - What do bus operators want/need in the way of North American airport access?

Often overlooked are the needs of high occupancy bus operators at our airports. What are their needs for holding areas, information, pickup zones, fees, and other accommodations? This panel of leading bus industry professionals will discuss and educate AGTA members on what their industry needs from airports in general, and what issues they see their industry facing.

Moderator.....Allen Fugate, Van Galder Bus/Coach USA and AGTA President
.....Peter Pantuso American Bus Association
.....Mark Szyperski, Trailways
.....Victor Parra, UMA

9:45 a.m. Are we making progress in cleaning up poor airport taxi services?

Managing and monitoring taxi operations at medium and large airport complexes has become a difficult and economically challenging problem for many. Forcing taxi operations to offer the bare minimums in customer services, such as the acceptance of credit cards is also a significant challenge for many airports. Presentations by landside managers and their vendors will update delegates on both technologies and vendor support for improving and monitoring taxi operations.

Presenters.....Jeff Courteau and Eric Hudak, Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport
.....Harold Dede, New Orleans Aviation Board
.....Tom Dahlen and Jon Allen, Card Payment Solutions

10:30 a.m. Beverage Break - Exhibits Open

10:45 a.m. What are airport and ground operators doing to improve their operations?

This session will consist of several ground transportation operators and detailing what improvements they and their airports have made to improve safety, security, and/or emissions at their airports.

SPOUSE/GUEST ACTIVITIES

Spouse and guest fees will cover the Sunday evening President's Reception, Monday and Tuesday morning guest activities including a familiarization presentation by a "local", the cocktail hour on Monday evening, and the Tuesday evening social event. Specific tours will be reserved when the number of participating guests is ascertained. Guests should come prepared with comfortable shoes and clothing. The recent weather in D.C. gives me hope that the cherry blossoms might be delayed this spring -- right into our meeting dates.
